

annual planning, assessment, and reporting calendar

The UT Martin Annual Planning, Assessment, and Reporting Calendar provides an overview of the activities and reports that establish the foundation for the university's data-driven decision making process. The planning and assessment goals and the activities and reports in the calendar that follows reflect the university's mission:

The University of Tennessee at Martin educates and engages responsible citizens to lead and serve in a diverse world.

UT Martin's commitment to establishing a strong culture of mission-focused planning and assessment extends throughout the institution. The activities and reports are listed under specific functional areas to show primary responsibility for planning, assessment, or reporting. However, overlap of the data and processes exists between the different areas, and the calendar activities are not considered mutually exclusive. Collection and analysis of data occurs over time and often begins in the weeks and months prior to the submission of reports as listed in the calendar. The calendar is intended to provide a guide toward achieving the overall planning and assessment goals.

Planning and Assessment Goals

- ❖ To ensure institutional effectiveness through broad-based, mission-focused planning
- ❖ To integrate UT Martin Annual and Strategic Plans with UT System, THEC, Complete College Tennessee, and Tennessee Drive to 55 plans and initiatives
- ❖ To integrate mission-focused planning and assessment with UT Martin's budgeting process
- ❖ To sustain a campus culture for planning, assessment, and data-informed decision-making among academic and non-academic units at all levels
- ❖ To utilize research-based assessment data to inform and guide planning and to foster improvement (closing the loop)
- ❖ To involve all faculty and staff in planning and assessment processes in an appropriate manner
